Hodie scietis quia veniet Dominus et salvabit nos: et mane videbitis gloriæ ejus.

Exodus 16:6-7

This day you shall know that the Lord will come and save us: and in the morning you shall see his glory.

O dolc'eterno Amore, ferito m’hai soavemente il core onde languisco per dolcezza e moro.
Se farta son tu’ ancella, non ti sarò rubella, ma ben la notr’e ’l giorno farò dolce Signor à te ritorno.

Salve regina, mater misericordie, vita dulcedo et spes nostra, salve.
Ad te clamamus exules filii Eve, ad te suspiramus gementes et flentes in hac lacrimarum valle.
Eya ergo, advocata nostra, illos tuos misericordes oculos ad nos converte.
Et Jesum benedictum fructum ventris tui nobis post hoc exilium ostende, O clemens, O pia, O dulcis Maria.

O sweet eternal Love, you have tenderly wounded my heart so that I languish from sweetness and die.
If I am made your handmaid, I shall not rebel against you, but night and day shall return, sweet Lord, to you.

Hail queen, mother of mercy:
life, sweetness, and our hope, hail!
To you we cry, exiled children of Eve; to you we sigh, weeping and wailing in this vale of tears.
Come then, our advocate, turn your merciful eyes upon us, and show us Jesus, the blessed fruit of your womb, after this our exile, O merciful, O gentle, O sweet Mary.
LE CANTIQUE DES CANTIQUES

I. Dialogue

Alleluia!

A ma cavale attelée au char de Pharaon je te compare

Mon Bien aimé est à moi comme un bouquet de myrrhe qui repose entre mes seins.

Que tu es belle ma bien aimée!
Tes yeux sont des colombes

Que tu es beau mon Bien aimé!

Comme le lis entre les chardons Telle est ma bien aimée entre les jeunes filles

Comme le pommier parmi les arbres du verger Tel est mon Bien aimé parmi les jeunes hommes.
J’ai désiré son ombrage et m’y suis assise et son fruit est doux à ma bouche Il m’a menée au cellier du vin Et la bannière qu’il dresse sur moi c’est l’amour

Filles de Jérusalem, n’éveillez pas la bien-aimée avant l’heure de son bon plaisir.

II. La Voix du Bien-Aimé

Shéma shéma

J’entends mon Bien aimé :
voici qu’il arrive sautant sur les montagnes, bondissant sur les collines Mon Bien aimé est semblable à une gazelle, à un jeune faon

I. Dialogue

Alleluia!

To my steed harnessed to Pharaoh’s chariot
I compare you

My beloved is to me like a bouquet of myrrh resting between my breasts

How beautiful you are, my beloved!
Your eyes are doves

How beautiful you are, my beloved!

Like the lily among the thistles
So is my beloved among the young girls

Like the apple among the trees of the orchard
So is my beloved among the young men I desired his shade and there I sat down and his fruit is sweet to my mouth He led me into the winecellar and the banner he spreads over me is love

Daughters of Jerusalem, do not awake the beloved before the hour of her pleasure.

II. The Voice of the Beloved

Listen, listen!

I hear my beloved:
see, he comes, leaping through the mountains, bounding over the hills
My beloved is like a gazelle, a young fawn Ma belle

Mon Bien aimé élève la voix Il me dit

Lève toi, hâte toi, la mienne amie, ma colombe, et viens Car déjà l’hiver est passé, al la pluie s’en est allée et retirée

Hâte toi, mon Bien aimé, viens mon Bien aimé

Sur notre terre les fleurs sont apparues

Alleluia
La voix de la tourterelle est ouie en notre terre, la voix de la tourterelle s’est fait entendre Le figuier a produit ses figues Les vignes florissantes exhalent leur parfum Montre moi ton visage, ma colombe cachée Que ta voix sonne en mes oreilles Car douce est ta voix et beau ton visage Car ta voix est douce ma Bien aimée

Mon Bien aimé est à moi, et moi à lui Il pait son troupeau parmi les lis Avant que poigne le jour et que s’abaissent les ombres Reviens, sois semblable mon Bien aimé à une gazelle au jeune faon sur les montagnes de l’alliance

III. Le Songe

Yahvé! Yahvé!

Miserere mei
Dona nobis pacem
Da pacem Domine
Deus Deus meus
Angeli Domini
Dominus Deus
Agnus Dei
Spera in Deo Domine
Libera nos a malo
Exaudi nos Domine
Kyrie Christe eleison

My fair one

My beloved raises his voice
He calls to me

Arise, hurry, my friend, my dove, and come For lo, the winter is past, the rain is over and done

Hurry, my beloved, come, my beloved

The flowers have appeared in our land

Alleluia
The voice of the turtledove is heard in our land the voice of the turtle is calling The fig-tree has brought forth its figs
The flowering vines breathe out their perfume Show me your face, my hidden dove Let your voice sound in my ears for your voice is sweet and your face is lovely your voice is sweet, my beloved

My beloved is mine, and I am his He pastures his flock among the lilies before the day breaks and the shadows retire Come back, my beloved, be like a gazelle like the young fawn on the mountains of the covenant

III. The Dream

Yahweh! Yahweh!

Have mercy on me
Grant us peace
Give us peace, O Lord
God, my God
Angels of the Lord
Lord God
Lamb of God
Hope in the Lord God
Deliver us from evil
Hear us, Lord
Lord, Christ, have mercy
Sur ma couche la nuit j’ai cherché celui que mon cœur aime
Je l’ai cherché mais ne l’ai pas trouvé
Je me leverai donc et parcourrai la ville Dans les rues et sur les places Je chercherai celui que mon cœur aime
Je l’ai cherché mais ne l’ai pas trouvé
Les gardes m’ont rencontré Ceux qui font la ronde dans la ville Avez-vous vu celui que mon cœur aime?
Filles de Jérusalem, n’éveillez pas la bien aimée avant l’heure de son bon plaisir.

IV. Le Roi Salomon

Hosanna filio David qui venit in nomine Domini

Qu’est-ce là qui monte du désert comme une colonne de fumée, vapeur d’arômes de myrrhe, vapeur d’encens de tous parfums exotiques?

Voici le lit de Salomon soixante hommes preux l’environnent, vaillant guerriers, vétérans des combats, le glaive au côté, les plus forts d’Israël

le roi Salomon s’est fait un trône en cèdre du Liban, le dossier d’or, le siège de pourpre, le baldaquin

Venez filles de Sion contempler Salomon portant le diadème dont le couronna sa mère au jour de ses noces, de la joie de son coeur venez voir Salomon le roi venez contempler le roi Salomon!

In my bed at night I sought him whom my heart loves
I sought him but did not find him
I will rise and run through the city In the streets and the squares
I will look for him whom my heart loves
I sought him but did not find him
The watchmen found me
Those who patrol around the city
Have you seen him whom my heart loves?
Daughters of Jerusalem, do not awake the beloved before the hour of her pleasure.

IV. King Solomon

Hosanna to the Son of David who comes in the name of the Lord

Who is that who rises from the desert like a pillar of smoke, a haze of aromatic myrrh, the smoke of incense of all exotic perfumes?

Behold the litter of Solomon sixty gallant men surround it, valiant warriors, veterans of wars, swords at their side, the strongest of Israel

King Solomon had a throne made of cedar of Lebanon, the back of gold, the seat of purple, the baldaquin

Come, daughters of Sion, behold Solomon bearing the diadem with which his mother crowned him on his wedding day, day of his heart’s joy

come see Solomon the king come behold King Solomon!
V. Le jardin clos

Que tu es belle ma bien aimée que tu es belle Tes yeux sont des colombes
Tes cheveux comme un troupeau de chèvres ondulant sur les pentes de Galaad Tes dents sont comme un troupeau de brebis tondues qui remontent du bain deux à deux Chacune a sa jumelle Tes joues sont comme deux moitiés de grenades à travers ton voile Tes deux seins sont comme deux bichelots gémeaux de la biche qui paissent parmi les lis Tu me fais perdre le sens par un seul de tes regards, ma soeur, ma fiancée Viens du Liban et tu seras couronée, du chef d’Amana!
Elle est un jardin bien clos, ma soeur, ma fiancée, un jardin bien clos, une source scellée

Que mon Bien aimé entre dans son jardin et qu’il en goûte les fruits délicieux

VI. La Sulamite

Pour quoi regardez-vous la Sulamite dansant comme en un double choeur?

Que tes pieds sont beaux dans tes sandales, fille de prince La courbe de tes flancs est comme un collier Ton chef se dresse semblable au Carmel Tes cheveux sont comme la pourpre Un roi est pris à ses boucles dans son élan
Mon amour, mes délices, tu ressembles au palmier Tes seins en sont les grappes J’ai dit, je monterai au palmier j’en saisirai les régimes

VI. The Shulamite

Why are you watching the Shulamite dancing as if among two rows of dancers?

How lovely are your feet in your sandals, O prince’s daughter
The curve of your hips is like a necklace
Your head rises like Mount Carmel Your hair is like royal purple A king is caught in its locks in its tossing
My love, my delights, you are like a palm tree
Your breasts are the fruits
I said, I will climb into the palm tree
I will seize its clusters of fruit
Je suis à mon Bien aimé et son désir tend vers moi Viens mon Bien aimé, sortons dans la campagne Nous passerons la nuit dans les villages Dès le matin nous irons dans les vignes Là je te ferai le don de mes amours

Filles de Jérusalem, n’éveillez pas la bien aimée
avant l’heure de son bon plaisir.

I am my beloved’s and his desire reaches toward me Come, my beloved, let us go into the countryside
We will pass the night in the villages Early in the morning we will go into the vineyards
There I will give you the gift of my love

Daughters of Jerusalem, do not awake the beloved
before the hour of her pleasure.

VII. Épithalame

Veni sponsa Christi, accipi coronam quam tibi Dominus praeparavit in aeternum
Alleluia

Pose moi comme un sceau sur ton cœur comme un sceau sur ton bras car l’amour est fort comme la mort la jalousie est dure comme l’enfer une flamme de Yahvé!
Les grandes eaux n’ont pu éteindre l’amour les fleuves ne le submergeront pas!

Coelestis urbs Jerusalem
Beata pacis visio
Alleluia
Kyrie eleison Christe eleison
Alleluia Domine
Alleluia!

VII. Epithalamium

Come, bride of Christ, receive the crown which God has prepared for you for eternity
Alleluia

Set me as a seal upon your heart as a sign upon your arm for love is as strong as death jealousy is harsh as the torments of hell a flame from Yahweh!
Great seas have not been able to extinguish love floods will not drown it!

The heavenly city Jerusalem a blessed vision of peace
Alleluia
Lord have mercy, Christ have mercy
Alleluia, O Lord
Alleluia!

Many voices

[Greek polyphonia variety of tones, fr. polyphonōs having many tones or voices, fr. poly- + phōnē voice] Webster’s New Collegiate Dictionary

Mus. The simultaneous combination of a number of parts, each forming an individual melody, and harmonizing with each other; the style of composition in which the parts are so combined; polyphonic composition; counterpoint. Oxford English Dictionary

I borrowed the title of this program from Alex Ross’s review of Blue Heron’s first CD of Peterhouse repertoire (The New Yorker, January 10, 2011). As a succinct summation of what Blue Heron does—both the music we sing and how we approach it—the term could not be bettered. Polyphony is the signal accomplishment of the western musical tradition, and the era of music in which we specialise, between roughly 1400 and 1600, was the Golden Age of equal-voiced polyphony, where every voice, every strand in the musical fabric, has an equal place: parts may take on different contrapuntal roles, but there is no hierarchy, no leader, no accompaniment, no dissolution into a blend, no subservient line. An ensemble of four or six or twelve solo voices sings the words of one human being. The goal is not unity, but diversity. Out of many single melodies, a plurality of voices heard in harmony. The full participation of all is vital for the enterprise to succeed. This may be the most democratic form of music ever practiced in the West.

Today’s program of polyphonic music from four centuries invites you to hear what is common and what is distinct in music written by a fifteenth-century town trumpeter’s son from Ghent, a daughter of a sixteenth-century Ferrarese architect who entered a convent in her teens, a twentieth-century Parisian setting a French translation of Hebrew love lyrics, and two composers still living among us, a Cypriot Turk residing in Belmont and a son of Chicago. The latter two, Mehmet Ali Sanlıkol and Kevin Allen, orient their compositions explicitly towards Renaissance polyphony (Kevin Allen has said that one of the major influences on his style is none other than Johannes Okeghem; on Devran, see the notes below), while our Frenchman, Jean-Yves Daniel-Lesur (who died just a few years after Blue Heron was founded) was for three decades a professor of counterpoint and was a founding member of La Jeune France, a musical society which dedicated itself to a “return to the human” as opposed to the cool, abstract neo-classicism then prevalent.

Common themes emerge in the texts as well, especially a sort of mystical sensuality, or sensual mysticism, embracing human and divine love:

The many further meanings of “Many voices” in this program I leave you to discover.

Kevin Allen, *Hodie scietis

In the pandemic season of 2020-21 Blue Heron commissioned a Christmas piece from Kevin Allen, a setting of the hymn Puer nobis nascitur for tenor and bass voice paired with tenor and bass sackbut. Besides Allen’s professed love for Okeghem and richly-deserved reputation as one of our finest living composers of polyphonic music to Latin texts, what drew me to him was this short, gorgeous piece. It’s also a Christmas text, but too beautiful not to find a place on this springtime program.
Jacob Obrecht, Salve regina

Obrecht composed two settings of the Marian antiphon Salve regina, one for four voices, this one for six. The polyphonic verses are sung alternatim with the plainchant whose melody Obrecht quotes as cantus firmus in the first tenor, alluding to it in the other voices. The motet is packed with drama and expressive dissonance. Several striking passages contrast the trio of high voices (labelled “puer” or “boy” in one manuscript, here sung by women) with the lower trio of two tenors and bass.

Vittoria Aleotti, O dolc’eterno Amore

One of five daughters of the Ferrarese court architect Giovanni Battista Aleotti, Vittoria Aleotti was a musical prodigy who at age six astonished her parents and her sister’s music teacher with an impromptu performance on the harpsichord. After two years of study with the music teacher he recommended that she pursue more advanced training at the Augustinian convent of San Vito, which was renowned for its music. Vittoria entered the convent sometime in her early teens, taking the name Rafaella; not long afterwards two volumes of her music were published in Venice, one of madrigals under the name Vittoria, and one of motets under the name Rafaella. Praised by visitors to San Vito as a marvelous organist, highly learned in music theory, she served as prioress from 1636 to 1639 and was still living in 1646 (although “very aged”), but she never published another piece, nor is any known to survive in manuscript. Our selection, O dolc’eterno Amore, is a madrigal, but one easily read as sacred.

Le Cantique des cantiques

Composed in 1952 for Radio France, Jean-Yves Daniel-Lesur’s virtuosic Cantique des cantiques is a setting for twelve solo voices of poetry from the Song of Songs, translated from Hebrew into French (perhaps via the Latin intermediary of the Vulgate Bible). The seven movements of Le Cantique present a beautifully condensed version of the entire Song, touching on all of its major themes, images, and characters: the girl and boy who speak to and of each other in direct, highly physical terms; the Daughters of Jerusalem; the watchmen; King Solomon and his retinue; the dancing Shulamite; gardens, orchards, vineyards, pastures, and hills populated by gazelles, fawns, and bounding stags; the city of Jerusalem, the desert, Gilead, Amana, Mount Carmel. But only in The enclosed garden and The Shulamite are the words exclusively the French text of the Song; the very first word is “Alleluia,” from Hebrew via Greek, and words in the sacred languages of Latin and Hebrew pervade the texture. The music is charged throughout with the intoxicating sensuousness of the Song, at times mysterious and dreamy, at others ecstatic, filled with the exuberance of young love. Each movement presents a distinct sonic landscape as the composer deploys different types of scale or mode, including scales made up only of whole tones or of regularly alternating whole tones and semitones, and harmonies created by stacking like intervals, in particular perfect fifths and tritones. Two movements (King Solomon and Epithalamium) are based on Gregorian chants which are heard as a cantus firmus throughout in the lowest voice and provide the melodic material for the other voices as well—standard Renaissance techniques heard in Obrecht’s Salve regina. The Shulamite is a head-spinning dance in 5/8 time which dissolves at the last moment. The movement toward a sacred interpretation of the Song culminates in an ecstatic Epithalamium or wedding song built on the words and melody of the plainchant Veni sponsa Christi, leading up to a final Alleluia.

Devran & traditional Turkish music

The word “devran” has a number of meanings in Turkish, including the world, life, fate, time, and the times people live in, as well as whirling or turning. It is often used in Islamic mystical literature in the Sufi tradition and occurs in the text of Devran’s second movement, where it seems to reference the Mevlevi (so-called “whirling”) dervishes.

When composing Devran my main goal was to honor pluralism within Islamic culture by writing a choral piece like a motet—a staple of Renaissance European Christian music—while setting texts by Turkish Sufi dervishes. The musical idea was to combine Renaissance polyphony and various Middle Eastern musical elements into an artistic whole. More specifically, while the imitative style of 16th-century counterpoint is the main influence, especially dominating the second movement, the Middle Eastern makam (mode) tradition and elements of Turkish Sufi music help shape the overall musical tone. For example, the first movement incorporates zikir (ostinato or repeated phrases invoking the names of God, used in Sufi devotion) and the second movement has a section where a solo evokes the vocal improvisations of the Hafız (Koranic chanters). The set we will perform with DÜNYA is particularly aiming to portray these Ottoman/Turkish and Sufi music influences in Devran in their traditional forms, along with examples of improvisation and rare instances of polyphonic textures.

Devran was premiered at the New England Conservatory on November 9, 2017, by the NEC Chamber Singers.

BLUE HERON HAS BEEN ACCLAIMED by The Boston Globe as “one of the Boston music community’s indispensables” and hailed by Alex Ross in The New Yorker for its “expressive intensity.” The ensemble ranges over a wide repertoire from plainchant to new music, with particular specialties in 15th-century Franco-Flemish polyphony and early 16th-century English sacred music, and is committed to vivid live performance informed by the study of original source materials and historical performance practices.

Blue Heron’s first CD, featuring music by Guillaume Du Fay, was released in 2007. Between 2010 and 2017 the ensemble issued a 5-CD series of Music from the Peterhouse Partbooks, including many world premiere recordings of works copied c. 1540 for Canterbury Cathedral and restored by Nick Sandon. The fifth CD was awarded the 2018 Gramophone Classical Music Award for Early Music and the five discs are now available as a set entitled The Lost Music of Canterbury. In 2015 Professor Jessie Ann Owens and Blue Heron won the Noah Greenberg Award from the American Musicological Society to support the world premiere recording of Cipriano de Rore’s I madrigali a cinque voci, released in 2019. In 2015 Blue Heron also inaugurated Ockeghem@600, a multi-season project to perform the complete works of Johannes Ockeghem (c. 1420-1497) which, although delayed by the pandemic, will wind up in 2023, still more or less in time to commemorate the composer’s circa-600th birthday. A parallel project to record all of Ockeghem’s songs and motets bore its first fruits in 2019 with the release of Johannes Ockeghem: Complete Songs, Volume I, which was named to the Bestenliste of the Preis der deutschen Schallplattenkritik. Blue Heron’s recordings also include a CD of plainchant and polyphony that accompanies Thomas Forrest Kelly’s book Capturing Music: The Story of Notation, the live recording Christmas in Medieval England, and a compilation of medieval songs entitled A 14th-Century Salmagundi.

Mustering up “rock solid technique” and “the kind of vocal velvet you don’t often hear in contemporary music” (Boston Phoenix), soprano Jennifer Ashe has been praised for performances that are “pure bravura, riveting the audience with a radiant and opulent voice” (The Boston Globe). A strong advocate of new works, she has sung with Boston Musica Viva, Sound Icon, Fromm Festival, Boston Microtonal Society, Harvard Group for New Music, New Music Brandeis, New Gallery Concert Series, Guerilla Opera, Ludovico Ensemble, and the Callithumpian Consort. Recent projects include Boulez’s Le marteau sans maître with Boston Musica Viva and Schoenberg’s Pierrot lunaire with Ensemble Parallax. Ashe holds a DMA and an MM from The New England Conservatory and a BM from the Hartt School of Music. Formerly on the faculties of the College of the Holy Cross and Eastern Connecticut State University, she currently teaches voice, piano, and ukulele at the Dana Hall School of Music in Wellesley and preschool music at Music Together Arlington.

Three-time Grammy Award-winning bass Cameron Beauchamp is active throughout the country as a soloist, chamber musician, clinician, and experimental artist. He is an original member of Roomful of Teeth, currently serving as co-artistic director, and he is also the artistic director of Austin-based Convergence. An untethered rascal of the 1980s, Cameron always wanted to be Indiana Jones or a rock ‘n’ roll star. When his voice changed overnight in fifth grade, his music teacher told him he didn’t have to sing anymore, because his voice was too low. He then picked up a trombone and began playing in San Antonio’s thriving 1990s jazz, ska, and rockabilly scene. Cameron spent eight years avoiding going to class (at the University of North Texas), while working in the diverse musical landscape of Dallas.
Eventually he met a girl, finished school, and moved to Boston with his gal and his best friends. When a lucrative opera gig got cancelled in Boston, he got wind of a new group being formed called Roomful of Teeth. Finally something that he could hitch his wagon to. So he did. Cameron has performed on Grammy Award-winning albums with Roomful of Teeth, Silk Road Ensemble, and Conspirare, nine Grammy–nominated albums, and one Downbeat Award-winning album. When not making music, he passionately lives his life as a husband and father in San Antonio, polishing his cowboy boots and dreaming of a cure for type 1 diabetes.

Tenor Jonas Budris is a versatile soloist and ensemble musician, engaging new works and early music with equal passion. He has enjoyed performing, touring, and recording with such groups as Blue Heron, Cut Circle, the Handel & Haydn Society, Boston Baroque, The Thirteen, and the Skylark Vocal Ensemble. Mr. Budris is a featured soloist in Boston Baroque’s Grammy-nominated recording of Monteverdi’s Il ritorno d’Ulisse in patria and sang on Blue Heron’s Music from the Peterhouse Partbooks, Vol. 5, which received the 2018 Gramophone Award for Early Music. He can also be heard in Cut Circle’s new recordings, Messes Anonymes and Johannes Ockeghem: The Songs. On the opera stage, he has performed principal and supporting roles with Opera Boston, OperaHub, Guerilla Opera, and Odyssey Opera, originating such roles as John in Giver of Light and the title role of Chrononhotonthologos. Mr. Budris made his debut at the Carmel Bach Festival as the 2018 Tenor Vocal Fellow for the Virginia Best Adams Vocal Masterclass. He is a Lorraine Hunt Lieberson Fellow with Emmanuel Music, where he has performed regularly in their Bach Cantata and evening concert series. Originally from Martha’s Vineyard, Mr. Budris holds a degree in Environmental Sciences and Engineering from Harvard College.

Beth Bahia Cohen is a master of many bowed string instruments from the Middle East and the Balkans, having been inspired at an early age by the Arabic and Klezmer music she heard at family gatherings. She has performed on violin, yaylı tanbur, rebab, and kabak kemane with DÜNYA since its inception. She has also appeared with Turkish musicians Reha Sağbas, Cümcü Tanrıkorur, İhsan Özgen, Derya Turkan, and Şehvar Beşiroğlu, many in collaboration with the EurAsia Ensemble. She also performs and teaches traditional Greek, Hungarian, Romanian, and Klezmer music on the violin. She is a 2022 recipient of the Massachusetts Cultural Council Traditional Arts Fellowship and is on the faculties of the Berklee College of Music and Tufts University.

Burcu Güleç began her vocal journey at the age of five, discovering that singing came naturally to her. Since then her greatest joy in life has been making discoveries in music through improvisation and sharing it with her audience. Growing up in the hub of Ankara, Turkey, Burcu was exposed to Turkish folk, traditional, and varied Turkish music. She performed live over Turkish National Radio Television and many international Jazz festivals, spreading her voice all across Turkey. At the same time, she explored child development and education and graduated from Hacettepe University. Following this, she worked with deaf and hard of hearing children, instilling a new sense of purpose and appreciation for diversity in all things. With diversity comes growth, and in her search for new growth, Burcu has graduated from Berklee College of Music and completed her Master’s degree in Contemporary Improvisation at the New England Conservatory in Boston. Over the course of these studies, Burcu has traveled the United States, performing at festivals, getting involved with artistic projects, and growing herself and her repertoire. Burcu’s music ranges from the classic Turkish music of her childhood to the various styles of the Middle East and Asia Minor, jazz, improvisation, and electronic music. By drawing from the vast experiences of her life, her use of music seeks not just to entertain, but to educate, challenge, and spread diversity.

Bass-baritone Paul Guttry has performed throughout the USA and internationally with Sequentia, Chanticleer, the Boston Camerata, and New York’s Ensemble for Early Music. As a choral artist, Ms. Leeds has performed with the Weimar Bach Academy, the Junges Stuttgart Bach Ensemble, and the Handel & Haydn Society as well as the Grammy-nominated ensembles True Concord and Seraphic Fire. In recent years, Ms. Leeds has garnered multiple accolades including winning the Tafelmusik Vocal Competition in 2016, being selected as a Virginia Best Adams Fellow at the 2017 Carmel Bach Festival, and working with Philippe Herreweghe as a Britten-Pears Young Artist in a Bach cantata program in 2019.

Born and raised in Nicosia, Cyprus, George Lernis is a world percussionist, drummer, and educator who currently resides in the U.S. Having grown up with the musical traditions of the Middle East/Eastern Mediterranean regions and later on receiving formal training as a Jazz drummer at the Berklee College of Music, George is considered to be bimusical. He has recorded and collaborated with prominent figures such as John Patitucci, Antonio Sanchez, Dave Liebman, and Anat Cohen, just to name a few. In 2021 George graduated from the Berklee College of Music’s prestigious Global Jazz Institute with his second master’s degree in Jazz performance. Currently he is the new Academic Assistant at Berklee’s Global Jazz Institute, working closely with master pianist Danilo Pérez. In addition, he is getting ready to release his new album as a leader, Between Two Worlds, featuring the master bassist John Patitucci.

Hailed for his “voice of seductive beauty” (Miami Herald), baritone David McFerrin has won critical acclaim in a variety of repertoire. His opera credits include Santa Fe Opera, Seattle Opera, Florida Grand Opera, the Rossini Festival in Germany, and numerous appearances with Boston Lyric Opera and other local companies. As concert soloist he has sung with the Cleveland Orchestra, Israel Philharmonic, Handel and Haydn Society, Apollo’s Fire, and Boston Pops. He was runner-up in the Oratorio Society of New York’s 2016 Lyndon Woodside Solo Competition, the premier US contest for this repertoire. He has performed chamber music and in recital at the Caramoor, Ravinia, and Marlboro Festivals. David has performed regularly with Blue Heron since 2011.
Reviewers have praised Jason McStoots as having an “alluring tenor voice” (ArtsFuse) and as “the consummate artist, wielding not just a sweet tone but also incredible technique and impeccable pronunciation” (Cleveland Plain Dealer). In 2015 he won a Grammy award in Opera with the Boston Early Music Festival (BEMF) for their recording of works by Charpentier. His recent stage appearances in period-style baroque opera with BEMF include Le Jeu in Les plaisirs de Versailles by Charpentier, Apollo in Monteverdi’s Orfeo, and Eumete and Giove in Monteverdi’s Il ritorno d’Ulisse in patria. Other recent solo performances include Pedrillo in Mozart’s Abduction from the Seraglio, Bach’s Christmas Oratorio and St. Mark Passion with Emmanuel Music, and Monteverdi’s Vespers of 1610 with the Green Mountain Project. He has appeared with Boston Lyric Opera, Pacific MusicWorks, Boston Camerata, TENET, San Juan Symphony, The Bach Ensemble, Pablo Casals Festival, Early Music Guild of Seattle, Tragicomedia, and the Tanglewood Music Center. He is a core member of Blue Heron and can be heard on all their recordings. Scott Metcalfe is widely recognized as one of North America’s leading specialists in music from the fifteenth through seventeenth centuries and beyond. Musical and artistic director of Blue Heron since its founding in 1999, he was music director of New York City’s Green Mountain Project from 2010-19 and has been guest director of TENET (New York), the Handel & Haydn Society (Boston), Emmanuel Music (Boston), the Toronto Consort, The Tudor Choir and Seattle Baroque, Pacific Baroque Orchestra (Vancouver, BC), Quire Cleveland, and the Dryden Ensemble (Princeton, NJ), in music ranging from Machaut to Bach and Handel. He also enjoys a career as a baroque violinist, playing with Les Délices (dir. Debra Nagy), L’Harmonie des Saisons (dir. Eric Milnes), and other ensembles. Metcalfe’s scholarly work centers on the performance practice of medieval and Renaissance vocal music, including two studies in a long-forthcoming book on the Peterhouse partbooks and upcoming articles in the Journal of the Alamire Foundation. He has edited music by Francisco de Peñalosa for Antico Edition (UK) and songs from the recently rediscovered Leuven chansonnier for the Alamire Foundation (Belgium); a long-term project is a new edition of the songs of Gilles Binchois (c. 1400-1460). He has taught at Boston University and Harvard University, served as director of the baroque orchestra at Oberlin Conservatory, and been a visiting member of the faculty of Music History at the New England Conservatory. He received a bachelor’s degree from Brown University (1985), where he majored in biology, and a master’s degree in historical performance practice from Harvard (2005).

Praised for her “warm, colorful mezzo” by Opera News, Sophie Michaux has become one of Boston’s most versatile and compelling vocalists. Born in London and raised in the French alps, Sophie’s unique background informs her artistic identity, making her feel at home in an eclectic span of repertoire ranging from grand opera to French cabaret songs. Sophie’s recent engagements include solo recitals of Barbara Strozzi’s music at the Fondazione Cini in Venice, and in Boston. A consummate singing actor, Sophie appeared as Ceres in Boston Early Music Festival’s production of Lalande’s Les Fontaines de Versailles, garnering acclaim from the Boston Musical Intelligencer for her “astonishing range and flexibility.” She won second place at the Handel Aria competition in Madison, WI. She is a core member of the Lorelei Ensemble, Boston’s groundbreaking women’s ensemble, in which she has been featured soloist in numerous works from Renaissance polyphony to Björk. She regularly collaborates with BEMF, Blue Heron, and A Far Cry, among others. Sophie belongs to Beyond...
Artists, a coalition of artists who donate a percentage of their concert fees to organizations they care about. Through her performances, she supports The Ocean Clean Up.

Praised for her “impressive clarity and color” by The New York Times, soprano Jessica Petrus is thrilled to join Blue Heron this season. Most recently she was the featured soprano soloist for the Musicians of the Old Post Road’s holiday concerts in December, 2021. During the COVID-19 lockdown in 2020, Jessica collaborated with composer Susan Kander to record her art song demo album First Person, Second Person, Third Person Singular. Jessica can also be heard as the soprano soloist on Kander’s recording of A Garden’s Time Piece on her album Hermestänze (MSR Classics), about which Gramophone wrote “A Garden’s Time Piece ... is a lovely conceit.... Ashworth and Jessica Petrus play and sing expressively and knowingly throughout.” In 2016, Jessica performed Unsuk Chin’s Akrostichon-Wortspiel with Cantata Profana in New York City, where she “sang beautifully, with strict control and expressive musicality, telling each phantom story with charming resolve” (I Care If You Listen). Jessica teaches voice privately in the Boston area. She graduated from the Yale Institute of Sacred Music in voice and from the University of Michigan in Voice Performance and Education. When not singing or teaching, she can be found cooking in her kitchen, working on her next venture as a postpartum doula, or spending time with her husband, Evan, and their young children, Will, June, and Oscar.

Grammy-nominated composer and New England Conservatory faculty member Mehmet Ali Sanlıkol hails from Cyprus and Turkey. A jazz pianist, multi-instrumentalist, and singer, Sanlıkol has been praised by critics all over the world for his unique, pluralistic, and energetic musical voice. The Boston Globe noted that Sanlıkol’s “music is colorful, fanciful, full of rhythmic life, and full of feeling. The multiculturalism is not touristy, but rather sophisticated, informed, internalized; Sanlıkol is a citizen of the world ... who could play decisive role in music’s future.” Sanlıkol has composed for and performed with international stars and ensembles including Dave Liebman, Bob Brookmeyer, Anat Cohen, Esperanza Spalding, Billy Cobham, Antonio Sanchez, Gil Goldstein, Tiger Okoshi, The Boston Camerata, The Boston Cello Quartet, A Far Cry, American Composers Orchestra, Okay Temiz, Erkan Oğur, and Brenna MacCrimmon. His “coffeehouse opera” entitled Othello in the Seraglio: The Tragedy of Sämbül The Black Eunuch, which brings together the musical cultures of opera house and coffeehouse, Baroque Italy and Ottoman Turkey, received the Paul R. Judy Center grant at Eastman School of Music in 2015 and was performed twenty times within three years after its premiere. Sanlıkol’s book about the Ottoman Janissary Bands, The Musician Mehters, was published in 2011 in English and in Turkish. Currently, he is the director of New England Conservatory’s Intercultural Institute and the project director and curator of Nilüfer Municipality Dr. Hüseyin Parkan Sanlıkol Musical Instruments Museum.

He sang the title role in BEMF’s recording of Charpentier’s La Descente d’Orphée aux Enfers, which won Best Opera Recording at the 2015 Grammy Awards. Aaron has appeared worldwide at venues including the Tanglewood Festival, Lincoln Center, Concertgebouw, Théâtre des Champs-Élysées, Gran Teatro Nacional del Perú, Beethoven Festival Warsaw, Boston Symphony Hall, Musikfestspiele Postdam Sanssouci, Royal Opera at Versailles, Washington National Cathedral, and the early music festivals of Boston, San Francisco, Vancouver, Houston, Tucson, Washington, DC, and Regensburg, Germany. Acknowledgments

BLUE HERON’S EXISTENCE is made possible through the devotion, hard work, and financial support of a large community of musicians, staff, board members, volunteers, donors, and concertgoers. Never has this been more true than in the last year and a half. Many thanks to all those who join us in creating, nurturing, and sustaining an organization dedicated to making the music of the past come alive in the 21st century.

We are extraordinarily fortunate to work with a slate of talented, skilled, and devoted designers, engineers, videographers, and photographers. Our concerts are recorded by Philip Davis (Cape Ann Recordings) or Joel Gordon. Joel is the engineer for our CDs, and our producer is Eric Milnes. Kathy Wittman (Ball Square Films) is our videographer, working with Joel to produce our concerts for remote broadcast. Our programs, printed publicity materials, and CDs are designed by John Kramer. FlashPrint in Harvard Square prints our programs. Erik Bertrand built our website and keeps it functioning properly. Liz Linder is our photographer. Our debt to these wonderful people who have shaped our look and sound is impossible to overstate.

We are very grateful to the gracious hosts who offer their hospitality to musicians from out of town. This week we extend our gratitude to Eleanor Schmidt and to Pete and Carol Shestok.

Many thanks to our board and to all our dedicated volunteers for their help in person, at this concert, and always.

We are honored and grateful to have so many generous donors. Thank you!
